At Murphy Aircraft, we understand the anticipation, excitement, and passion that comes with owning and building one of our kit planes. For many of you, the dream of assembling your aircraft and taking to the skies is a deeply personal journey, and we're committed to being a key part of that experience.

Behind the scenes, our factory team is working tirelessly to meet the growing demand for our aircraft kits. With orders coming in from clients around the world, every member of our team is focused on producing and delivering your kits as quickly as possible. From precise machining to thorough quality checks, we're dedicated to ensuring that every part meets the high standards you expect from Murphy Aircraft.

We know that waiting for your kit can be challenging. The urge to dive into the building process, watch your project come to life, and finally take flight is something we deeply appreciate and share. Your patience and enthusiasm drive us every day to push through challenges, streamline production, and get your kits to you on time.

This commitment to timely delivery isn't just about logistics—it's about the joy of helping you achieve your dream of flying. Each kit we send out represents not just a product, but the beginning of a journey for you, your family, and your friends.

To all our customers waiting for their kits: thank you for your trust and understanding. We're working hard to make sure your aircraft-building journey begins as soon as possible. And to those already in the skies, your stories and accomplishments continue to inspire us.

Here's to a future filled with more Murphy Aircraft taking flight around the world. From all of us at Murphy Aircraft, thank you for flying with us and for being part of our
